

WHEN PITY IS AMISS

The Star Soarer in the Home of Relatives

IS OFTENEST A BLESSING

How a School Teacher "Without a Man" Managed to Provoke Unmerited Commiseration.

The other day a woman was summing up her obligations. During the process she said:

"Then, you know, I make a home for Sarah."

That remark struck this department with peculiar force, and has, since its utterance, stuck by like the chronic bougher of 60 cents.

It was, to be sure, a very ordinary speech, but it stirred up several recollections of similar cases of making "a home for Sarah."

This is a way some folks have of expressing the fact that at their respective houses a more or less immediate relative is "putting up," for which accommodation a stipulated price is paid. Moreover, the relative for whom the abiding place is presumably manufactured is accorded the privilege of mak-women are counted in with the folks that make life worth living.

Waited on the Queen Forty Years. From England comes an item which may interest those who are curious about court customs. The dowager duchess of Atho, who has been a lady in waiting to the queen for nearly forty years, and who was maid-of-the-mistress in Lord Derby's first administration, is acting mistress of the robes during the months of February, March and April. The duties of the office will be undertaken by the dowager duchess of Buxburg during May, June and July.

The mistress of the robes attends the queen at all court and state functions, and is expected to be present at the dining rooms, the state balls and the state dinners. The dowager duchess of Buxburg has been a lady in waiting on the queen for more than thirty years, and in length of service she comes second only to the dowager duchess of Atho, the third place being filled by the Dowager Lady Churchill.

Mr. Bok's Private Secretary.

Edward W. Bok, the editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, loses his private secretary in the announcement printed in the last Sunday's Times, that Miss May Winkworth will be married on April 19 next to Kendall Stockley. Miss Winkworth has been Mr. Bok's private secretary ever since the young editor came to Philadelphia, four years ago, and she has shared in much of his success. Her fidelity to her chief's interests won for her not only his friendship but the regard of the many callers who seek an editor's sanctum. Mr. Stockley is a young Walnut street lawyer of good thirtieth street. The league is contemplating holding a fete at the Madison Square Garden in late May or early in June, which will quite equal the Actors' Fund fair of last year. The disengaging department of the league is now in active operation and is in charge of a high class modiste, where each day the various members may be found fulfilling their pledge to give three days out of the year at work in the sewing room.

When Mrs. Parker Stevens opened her new house on Fifth avenue, New York, the other evening, she had a band of fifty-seven pieces from the Boston Symphony orchestra to furnish music.

Woman's Influence.

Delicate women may exert much influence, but little, in comparison with what it would be with abundant health.

The wife wants health that she may be the companion of her husband and her family.

Beware of dizziness, sudden faintness, irritability, backache, nervousness, extreme lassitude, depression, exhaustion, excitability, and sick headache.

These are sure indications of female weakness, some derangement of the uterus or womb; they are danger signals, which warn you to avoid a life of misery. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
